If this relation is combined with that discussed on page 63, according to which the degree of ionization of a given salt, in different solvents, is the same, when the cube roots of its concentrations are directly proportional to the dielectric constants of the solvents (ei: $V_{ci} - e_2: -V_{ci} = \text{a constant}$), then we find, that in saturated solutions of a given salt, in different solvents, the cube roots of...
